

was hardly room for the torrent and for the road, which seemed in danger of being buried under the impending racks.

"The people of this country, at least of the German part, pleased us more than any other that we met with in Europe. Though remarkably simple, they are wonderfully free from any thing rough or boorish. You know from their history how brave and determined they are in defence of their liberties; but we see nothing of the ruffian or savage in these oppressed mountaineers. They have the Catholic religion, and with them it seems not to be a mere quietism to the conscience, permitting them, after confession and absolution, immediately to commence a new score, in the belief that, like the last, it may be wiped off in a few moments. On the contrary, they seem to have the true devotion, pure morals, and real benevolence, which the Gospel enjoins.

"The capital, Inspruck, is more beautifully situated than any inland town that I recollect. It lies in the midst of a beautiful fertile valley, some five miles broad, and twenty or thirty long, watered by a broad, rapid stream, and surrounded by mountains that rise six, eight, and ten thousand feet above the ocean. While we were there a fall of snow whitened them half way to their bases. A few miles from Inspruck, in the same valley, lies Hall, another considerable town, and some thirty or forty churches are scattered on the feet and sides of the hills which encircle this charming plain. You know the well the effect, in a landscape, of a little church or old monastery, seen afar off in the solitude of the mountains, not to be far from the Tyrrol must be an interesting country to the traveller, when I tell you that this exquisite sight is no where found more frequently.

"Excuse me. I find I have been led much farther in giving you an account of this country than I expected; but I thought it even more pleasant than the Appennines between Leghorn and Genoa, which I very much admired. I shall return to the south to spend the winter."

A SABBATH IN BELGIUM.

Most of the people go to church; but as soon as the service is over, some go home to their respective private employments (for there are no public works on Sunday), others particularly the young of both sexes, go to their amusements. Some have a dance, of which they are as fond as their neighbours. Others amuse themselves by meeting in a house & singing altogether. There is something very solemn and elevating in their choruses. But the chief attraction is some mountebank or legerdemain exhibition. Instead of street preaching, as one might see in Wm. chapel or the Borough, I have here seen, just as the chapel door was closed, a man produce his monkey and his camel, and very meritorious performances they were. The latter, unwieldy and dull in all appearance, danced lightly to the tune of an Irish jig, and was applauded by hundreds of zealous spectators. The monkey went through various evolutions on the slack rope.

Pulmonary Consumption.—In the incipient, and, indeed, in more advanced stages of this unhappy complaint, the inhaling of the fumes arising from the burning of a composition, the basis of which is supposed to be common Tar, has been of singular utility. A Mr. Timewell of Poole, Dorsetshire, has employed it with extraordinary success; the modus operandi he thus explains:—"The first symptoms of this horrid disease are generally accompanied by an irritating cough which arises from the excoriation of that beautiful and delicate structure, the lining of the air tubes; which no medicine can possibly reach; these excoriations aggravated by the cough, generally degenerate into open and destructive ulcers, whereas the fumigation coming in immediate contact with these excoriations, or, perhaps, small ulcers, it heals them, the cough ceases, the patient gains strength, and ultimately recovers."

THE CANADAS.

The long talked of union between Upper and Lower Canada is said to be given up, and that a plan is now on foot in England for a system of confederation between all the British provinces in America.

On the 29th of October, the snow in Ashtabula, Ohio, was 9 inches deep.

ANNAPOLIS.
THURSDAY, NOV. 25, 1824.

Maryland Penitentiary.
The Grand Jury of Baltimore City Court, in their return of prisoners confined in the Maryland Penitentiary on the 13th instant, report the whole number to be 322—257 males and 65 females.

Massachusetts State Prison.
From the late annual report of the Warden of the State Prison of Massachusetts, it appears that the number of convicts now in the Prison is 298. The expenses of the institution for the past year amounted to $7,692 dollars; and the receipts to $8,834 dollars making an excess of receipts or clear profit to the commonwealth, of 1,142 dollars.

The State House was destroyed by fire at Frankfort, Kentucky, on the 4th instant. It was said to be one among the finest buildings in the Western country. It was 100 feet in front, 65 in depth, and of a correspondent height. It was built in 1816, by the voluntary subscriptions of the citizens of Frankfort and its vicinity, and cost about 30,000 dollars.

The loss of the schooner Mary Ann, Captain Grindall of Annapolis, is reported in the Norfolk Herald of Thursday last. The Mary Ann was bound from the Rappahannock to Philadelphia with a cargo of wheat, and sprung a leak, and notwithstanding every effort to save her went down about two miles distant from Cape Henry Light, on the evening of the 12th inst. Capt. G. and his crew took to the boat and landed at the Cape without being able to save any thing of consequence.

THE PRESIDENCY.
The Legislature of New-York has appointed the 35 electors to which that state is entitled. Twenty-five of them are favourable to Mr. Adams, and the National Intelligencer tells us that the remaining 10 are friendly to the election of Mr. Crawford. This however, is in part denied by the supporters of Mr. Clay, who claim seven of the eleven for their candidate.

NORTH CAROLINA.
From the Norfolk Herald of Monday. A letter from a gentleman of respectability at Raleigh, to another in this city dated on the 9th inst. says, "General Jackson has obtained the vote of this state by a majority of 5,051 votes over Mr. Crawford."

OHIO.
Mr. Clay has succeeded in this state by a majority of 766 over General Jackson. His majority over Mr. Adams is 6,975.

ILLINOIS. is said to have chosen electors favourable to Mr. Clay.

KENTUCKY.
At the close of the first day's election in Louisville, Ky. the vote stood for Jackson 465—for Clay 231.

Return of Citizen Granville to Hayti.

A letter from the Corresponding Secretary of the Haytian Emigration Society, at New York, to the editor of the Genius of Universal Emancipation, at Baltimore, dated November 13th, states as follows:—"Citizen J. Granville, to our great disappointment, will sail, we expect, to-morrow, for Samana. Without affording us the pleasure of a parting adieu. He has experienced so much turmoil from the abundant cares of his mission, in Philadelphia, that we have had but little epistolary correspondence with him. Eighteen vessels have sailed and are about sailing from Philadelphia, which will carry to Hayti about 2000 individuals; and, as far as we can understand, nearly the whole weight of the business, relative to their embarkation, has fallen upon him. This in addition to numerous other calls, has mostly kept him from sunrise until late at night busily employed in his office."

Hayti.—The Boston Patriot says, "Captain Stanwood, arrived here on the 17th instant from Cape Haytien, informs, that an invasion by the French was expected in the Spring, and the greatest preparations were making at the Cape, and throughout the Island, to repel them; every man capable of bearing arms was ordered to be put in requisition."

The famous bone of contention, the Batture, at New Orleans, lately sunk into the river, and disappeared. It was immensely valuable, being in front of the business part of the city, 700 feet long, and 200 wide.

THE YEAR 1824.
Has so far been quite a remarkable one on many accounts; but above all, it has been blessed with a most promising crop of wheat, and a very plentiful harvest of children. We scarcely receive a paper from the Western country, that does not contain some agreeable and delectable intelligence like the following:—"On Saturday last the lady of Mr. —, of Ohio was delivered of three fine 'children;' now although this was as pretty a present as any moderate woman would wish to give her husband, yet we find another matron feeling for the honour of her state, and determining not to be outdone, or in other language to 'have the last word if she died by it,' has enabled the editor of a paper in Indiana to say that in the early part of last week, Mrs. — was delivered of four fine children all likely to live and do well."—We hope so indeed, for the mother has certainly done well—aside i. e. if her spouse thinks so; indeed, these triple and quadruple births have become so common in the western part of our country, that when children come two and two in couples one after the other, it does not even make a topic of conversation. We do not know what speculations Mr. Malthus may indulge on this subject—we have our own notions. Ever since it was known that La Fayette intended to visit this country until the time of his arrival and indeed ever since, there appears to have been a general scramble among the unfledged bipeds as to who should reach the world first, and equally as great a scramble among the adult children for commissions in the militia.—Georgetown Metropolitan.

From the Montreal Herald.
The following is an extract of a letter from a quarter whose local history has excited much interest, during the first attempts made to settle it.

"Red River Settlement, Aug. 27, 1824.

"The Governor of this year, in continuation of his general tour, visits the Colombia. He passed last winter here. He and the Chief Factor had their hands full to reduce matters into order. Mr. P. Dean is appointed to the Arctic expedition, at Capt. Franklin's request. Mr. Blake is sent to explore the country west of Rocky Mountains, lying parallel with Mackenzie's River. I shall now talk to you of the Red River, although I must say, it is a topic on which I feel rather weary from the noise it has made, and the doubts that still hang round it. At the present day, however, it is very certain the views of the Company are most humane. In the River the climate is healthy—the soil productive—the plains abound with Buffaloes—the waters with excellent fish. Domestic animals are getting plentiful—population increasing fast, and the price of labour is on the decline. Petty merchants are encouraged; they receive their outfits from the Bay, at cost and charges. Besides, we have a general store, suitable to all demands, at a much lower rate than known, perhaps, in Canada. Men of skill are employed ameliorating the communications from the factory. No costs are spared, no address is wanting to ensure the friendship and good will of the surrounding tribes; and there is a tacit understanding with the American Commanders to keep the Sioux Tribes within their boundaries. A paper currency is put in operation for the facility of traffic; and, hitherto, 7s. 6d. sterling has been the price allowed by the Company for a bushel of grain."

CATHOLIC BISHOPS.
Three new Sees, says a late Dublin paper, have been lately erected in America by the present Pope, and Priests will be shortly, if they have not been already consecrated for them: The Sees are—First, St. Louis, in the State of Missouri. For this See, Rev. M. Rosatti, superior of the Lazarites, in the Diocese of Bishop Dubouche, has been nominated. He is an Italian, and a man of great virtues. Second, Detroit, in the state of Michigan; to fill this, a most prudent choice has been made in the person of the Rev. Mr. Richards, a Member of the United States Congress; he has laboured constantly on that mission, with the fortitude of an Apostle. The third is, Vincennes, in the State of Indiana, the choice of a person for this See, is not yet determined by the American Prelates.

Extract from the Annual Message of the Governor of Kentucky to the Legislature, sent in on the first of this month.
"The message which is now exhibiting in the Eastern states, on the arrival upon our shores of General LA FAYETTE, the uniform friend of liberal institutions, the early champion of our liberties, and the companion of Washington, is without a parallel in the history of nations, and gives to the friends of liberty in Europe, the pleasing consolation, that although free institutions have been there for a time, suppressed by the power of the holy alliance, the fire still burns in America, with a pure flame, which cannot fail in the progress of years to have a salutary influence on all mankind. I need not to tell you with what pleasure I shall accord with any measure adopted by you to honour this distinguished stranger, and swell the volume of a nation's gratitude. Surely he will not fail to visit the new world, which has sprung into existence on this side the Alleghanies, since he fought on the Atlantic borders, and witness with his own eyes how widely and how rapidly the tree of liberty is extending its branches."

AMERICAN FEMALE ENTER-PRIZE.

In Middlefield, Otsego county, N. Y. an establishment has been formed by some young ladies for the manufacture of imitation Leghorns, and they have already been so successful as to undersell, advantageously, the traders in the regular article. They supply the surrounding country at a cheaper rate, with equal quantity, than the merchants can afford.

The following instance of remarkable enterprise in a coloured person is from the New York Statesman.

A son of Africa a few days ago presented himself to the committee for promoting emigrants to Hayti, and inquired the way to that Island, having travelled with his pack upon his back from Whitewater, Wayne county, Indiana, by the way of Sandusky, Buffalo, Rochester and Albany, to this city, a distance of 1450 miles! He was immediately sent on board the Concordia, which sailed for Hayti on Tuesday, with a full cargo of emigrants.

It appears by the Montreal papers of the 10th inst. that the Hudson Bay Company and the Indians in the interior were involved in hostilities. Information had lately been received that a general coalition of the tribes in the North West territories to the amount of some thousands, had taken place; that they attacked the whites in the settlement at Red River; that the assaulted made a desperate resistance and defended themselves with great bravery, but in the contest the settlers sustained some loss. They succeeded however in preserving their ground, & keeping the savages at a respectable distance. It was the general opinion that the whites must have been the aggressors, as the Indians in that quarter were known to be the most inoffensive and harmless of any of the tribes.

The second drawing will take place on Wednesday next, the 24th inst. and WILL BE CONTINUED every week until further notice. 1 do	20,000 DOLLARS
